ALLOWABLE SUBJECT MATTER

Disposition of the Instant Application

- This Office action is responsive to Applicants' Amendment A filed on 20 November 2003.
- By this amendment, Applicants have canceled claims 4, 28, and 45, and have amended claims 1, 25, 38, and 41.
- Claims 1-3, 5-27, 29-44, 46, and 47 currently are pending in the instant application.

Allowed Claims

1. Claims 1-3, 5-27, 29-44, 46, and 47 are allowed.

Reasons for Allowance

The following is the Examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

2. The claims are allowable over the prior art for at least the reason that the prior art fails to teach or to reasonably suggest, with regard to claims 1-3, 5-27, and 29-40, a renewable mirror, comprising, inter alia, a penetrable unit, wherein said penetrable unit is a capillary substrate; and with regard to claims 41-44, 46, and 47, a method of providing a renewable mirror, comprising, inter alia, wherein said step of providing penetrable unit comprises providing a figured porous substrate, as set forth in the claimed combination.

With regard the Hughes reference (US Pat. No. 4,190,327), the liquid mirror disclosed therein can, it is supposed, be universally oriented (like the renewable mirror of the instant invention); the penetrable unit (10) taught by Hughes (see Fig. 1), however, does not comprise a capillary substrate, and as such, the liquid mirror disclosed by Hughes could, if at all, only be universally oriented due to the presence of optical flat window (12) and multilayered dielectric 34, both of which serve to keep said liquid (mercury) confined within said penetrable unit. And while the prior art does teach mirrors whose reflective surfaces comprise liquids, no such mirrors comprise penetrable units having capillary substrates.

3. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
